

ezLooker is the Answer to Every Craigslist Junkie's Prayers

You can find just about anything on Craigslist, but anything isn't always what you want. While browsing through the hundreds of available jobs, gigs, services, items for sale, and more, it can be hard to keep track of what you were looking for in the first place. In the past, Craigslist junkies had to use tabbed browsing, multiple windows, browser favorites, and other cumbersome methods to save their favorite posts. Now there's an easier way.

ezLooker is a free browser extension that works with Internet Explorer, Google Chrome, and Mozilla Firefox to help make your Craigslist experience more efficient. With ezLooker, Craigslist posts open in a viewing window that allows you to scroll quickly between posts using left and right arrows. When you find a post you like, you can click the star icon to "favorite" it. ezLooker then remembers your favorites, so you can recall them later with one click. Gone are the days of opening dozens of tabs or windows, or even e-mailing posts to yourself. When you're done browsing, simply click the "View Faves" link to view all of the posts ezLooker has saved for you, then click the e-mail link to send a quick e-mail about each post.

Not sure about a Craigslist post you found? Ask your friends for advice by clicking on the facebook or twitter icons, and automatically share the post with your online community.

Simplify your Craigslist experience by installing ezLooker for free. Search for a new job, a new friend, a new video game, or a new landscaper quickly and easily, so you can get back to spending your day on facebook instead.
