

Our world consist of over 9 billion people, speaking in 6,500 languages and still people from all over the glob are able to connect with each other, how is that possible lies within the hands of the translators who fill the gabs between multiple people speaking in different languages, furthermore, because it is the age of the internet and technology, one can easily connect with his/her translator using the web and what a better example of that then the translationlogic.com website which offers three unique services such as website translation services, website Design and Management and real time chat.

First of all, the website translation which offers the customer with first class translators, native speakers with relevant experience in the field and whom only concern is to make your business runs as smooth as possible by either Initial translation which include translating your website content to whatever language you desire in addition of being worked upon by editor and proof-reader and it is paid as pay-as-you-go system or you can choose the Ongoing web site translation which offers you hourly, daily, weekly or monthly translation that will be cost effective and give you the relief that your website is being monitored and updated for your multi-lingual websites accordingly and it is more economical then the first option as you will be charged a monthly rate.

Secondly, website Design and Management offers the customers the chance to design their website according to the language and culture of the intended viewers surfing their website as the website design is based on many factors such as language text direction, Country-specific formats depending on the region for example Europe, Asia...etc., Size of text characters, User preferences, Navigation styles and many other design features that will use a comprehensive framework as a starting point which leaves the customer assure that his/her visitors not only enjoy their time on the website but also having a pleasant experience reading and understanding every word in the website.

Thirdly, lies in the real time chat feature which enables the customers to get first class support in case they need one without the possibility of changing their mind and go and get help from another site(competitive one), Thus, what translationlogic.com offers is a real time chat facility in your customer's native language as the native speaking translator/operator is ready to receive the customer questions, communicate with the customer for more understanding of the problem and directing the question to the website owner to solve the issue at hand which will leave your customer with pleasant experience in relation to the support department.

All in all, translationlogic.com offers you a variety of features from real time chat, website Design and Management, website translation and much more features which gives the customers the relief that their jobs are being dealt with professionally by first class, native speakers and translators whose sole purpose is to deliver top translation services that leaves every customer at the end of the day both happy and satisfies with the outcomes.